Obagi Stories: Confessions of a Sun Worshipper

I was addicted to the sun.

I lived in Michigan. It was cold and overcast in winter, rainy and cloudy during the spring and fall and when the sun did shine in summer, I was there.

Many of us teenagers in the 1960s yearned for a bronze tan. The darker we turned, the better we looked. Or so we thought.

If the sun was out on a winter day, you'd find me bundled up in the snow with aluminum foil wrapped around my baby-oil lathered face. When it got too cold outside, I used my indoor sun lamp.

I occasionally went to Florida during spring break. First day I usually burned. Then peeled. Then burn over raw skin. I turned various colors of red and purple. Who cares about misery when in a few days, I'd be back home with hopefully a darker tan than all my friends! Did I mention I never used sunscreen? That would defeat the purpose of turning bronze.

Why didn't someone tell me about sun damage? Hello Mom???

Years later my skin was older looking that I was! Wrinkles, pigmentation, turkey neck, chest freckles . . . need I say more?

Thank goodness I learned about Dr. Obagi several years ago. Since using Obagi Medical products, my skin has been transformed. It's like turning back the clock and erasing years of sun worship.

Face, eyes and neck. All have benefited. That's because Obagi Medical products are pharmaceutical strength and transform the skin at the cellular level. And they're clinically proven.

The Obagi Nu-Derm® System I use on my face day and night. Old unhealthy skin cells are exfoliated and new ones emerge. My skin is firmer, clearer because elastin and collagen are stimulated.

Obagi's Elastiderm® is a terrific eye treatment that restores my skin's elasticity and reduces fine lines and wrinkles. It brought the snap back to the skin around my eyes.

My décolletage also suffered from sun damage. Obagi's Elastiderm Decolletage® System is specifically targeted to correct, restore and maintain youthful skin to this delicate area. Good bye turkey neck and chest freckles!

Today I'm much older and wiser. Instead of the sun, I'm a total devotee of Obagi's miraculous skin care line.

Whether you've been a sun-worship addict or a tanning bed junkie, there is help. Obagi Medical products will help erase years of abuse and give you the skin you never thought possible.
